August(1) edition

New addition to the International line up.

Our international reputation began in 1990 when Stan Ranson, the representative of our then sister club (Ventura County California) and former editor of KOIUSA paid us a visit. Since then the overseas interest has grown and increasingly

Its been a while since we've had a Japanese breeder turn up (1996 - Yagenji, Kosugi and Nagashima. 2000 Segiyoshi Tanaka) but this year we have another; Kazuo Nobutoki.

Kazuo is the manager of the Oishi Koi Farm in Fukuyama, Hiroshima and contacted his UK agents (Koi Waterlife Centre) about coming to this show which he had heard about in Japan. Although we were pleased to hear this, we weren't surprised - our show reports are featured in 15 different publications in 8 different countries. Nevertheless, we welcome Kazuo with open arms. He will be putting in appearances on the KWC stand but he also intends to mingle with UK hobbyists and soak up the UK Koi Show atmosphere.

Kazuo completes our international line up of Belgian, Chinese, Danish, Dutch, German,

KOI
ENGLISH STYLE

During this weekend there will be displays by The British Reptile and Amphibian Society

Fund raising Show koi opportunity.

Oishi Koi Farm are sending over an unspecified number of koi with show potential as a fund raiser for the South East Koi Club.

This is an unprecedented gesture which has taken us completely by surprise. But due to the short notice the koi will not be able to complete quarantine procedures in time for the show. We are also mindful of the Animal Welfare Act and need to ensure that these koi go to a home that is capable of providing the right environment. So exactly how we will proceed to capitalising from them has yet to be sorted out.

However, The koi will be quarantined at Koi Waterlife Centre and we are working with them to find a way of ensuring that visitors to our show can benefit from this very generous gesture.

Bonsai !

The every popular North West Kent Bonsai Society will be putting another free display this year and in addition there will be periodical demonstrations throughout the weekend. But you won't find it in its usual place. It has been moved to the other side of the showground to accommodate the large stand of Shirley Aquatics. Yes they are back on the show scene and chose the SE for their debut.

Feathers and scales of a different kind.

Scales of a different kind refers to the display staged by the British Reptile & Amphibian Society (BRAS) who put on an exhibition free of charge every year. If you visit the show on both days be sure to take a second look as they change the animals to avoid stress.

Feathers refers to Jambes Owls, a display of owls and other birds of prey. Both of these stands are run by expert hobbyists who are only too pleased to answer questions. They particularly like questions from children as they feel its important that they are aware of these animals requirements,

Photos.

Pay a visit to the craft tent and its environ if you are at all interested in an artistic addition to your home.

Keith Siddle - the well known koi artist will be there with prints and paintings for sale. Keith is also available for taking commissions.

In the same tent is Ian Kent a well known wildlife artist that also paints koi. Ian intends to paint a few pictures during the show which will be for sale alongside his regular work.

Just outside in his own gazebo will be Photos4fun with an array of ceramic goods portraying koi amongst other animals. They can also transfer your own photos onto their ceramic goods although not on site.

The show goes on !

The Dealer's show that was trialled last year is back and slightly bigger. Isle of Ely Koi will be showing too.

We'll be running it to the same formula as last year with a small change to the sizes.

They'll now be :-

Size A – under 40cms

Size B - >40cms – 60cms

Size C - >60cms

We'd originally two extra dealers exhibiting but one has just pulled out. The replacement has yet to confirm. A full list will be published when known.

A free subscription to Koi Carp magazine is there to be won with our annual competition found in our now legendary Show Programme. All you have to do is complete the puzzle, pull out the page and post it in a box on the SE
